 - ~~means for~~ registering a the home automation system with an email computer system, the registration including a network address corresponding to the home automation system;

 - ~~means for~~ scheduling the travel plans using a travel agent computer system;
 - ~~means for~~ receiving the scheduled travel plans at the email computer system;
 - ~~means for~~ retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location in response to the received travel plan message; and ~~means for~~ sending a home automation message from the email computer system to the home automation system network address, the home automation message resulting in an automated response performed by the home automation system.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 6-9, 11-13, 18-20 and 25-38 are allowed.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As per independent claims 6, 11, 18 and 38, the best domestic prior art, Weinstein et al. (US 6,650,635) teach a method and system for remote connecting to and controlling a home automation system over a telephone network, including verifying that the target home automation system is registered, said registration including a network address corresponding to the home automation system; receiving a command (from a remote user); in response to the received command retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location; transmitting the command to the home automation system; interpreting said command at said home automation system; and responding to said command upon "interpreting" step.

However, Weinstein et al. fails to disclose scheduling the travel plans using a travel agent computer system; receiving, remotely from said home automation system, scheduled travel plans; and in response to the received travel plan message retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location.

Flake et al. (US 5,832,451) teaches an automated travel service management information method and system, including scheduling the travel plans using a travel agent computer system; and transmitting said travels plans to a remote workstation. However, Flake et al. does not teach in response to the received travel plan message retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location.

Furthermore, there is lack of motivation to combine Weinstein et al. and Flake et al.

6. The best uncovered foreign prior art is JP02000184471, which appears to disclose a home automation system controlled remotely by a user via a telephone set and a master set, fails to disclose scheduling the travel plans using a travel agent computer system; receiving, remotely from said home automation system, scheduled travel plans; and in response to the received travel plan message retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location.

7. The best uncovered NPL document "AMX Announces First Internet-Based Control System for Home Automation" while teaching using the Internet for controlling a home automation system, fails to disclose scheduling the travel plans using a travel agent computer system; receiving, remotely from said home automation system, scheduled travel plans; and in response to the received travel plan message retrieving the home automation system's network address from the storage location.

Art Unit: 3639

8. The remaining depended claims 7-9, 12-13, 19-20 and 25-37 are considered allowable as they are dependent and based off of an allowable independent claim.

9. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion
